Principal's Message

We are all apprentices in a craft where no one ever becomes a master... - Ernest Hemingway

Children are like a rough diamond with its many facets representing the role they will play in the future. As educators we have a responsibility to polish all their facets - to help them realize their full potential of becoming a nurturing parent, a loving daughter/son, a caring friend, a good neighbor, and a responsible citizen - a true diamond whose sparkle will light up the world.

Children should be given not only good education but also relevant assistance to acquiring knowledge that could empower them to carry themselves forward. Attempt should be made to bring children to understand their own abilities to make decisions and give shape to their lives. Children should know the fact that "willingness to risk failure is primary to growth," as Dr. A P J Abdul Kalam said.

This concept of holistic development of students changes from a vision into a reality only when the talents of each student in every field is recognized and encouraged. Atomic Energy Central School, Mysore does make an effort to realize this aim.

The pages that follow give a glimpse of the various efforts taken by the school to help our students achieve the true aim of education.

I am grateful to the teaching and non teaching staff of AECS Mysore who have been tirelessly striving for leading the students to the highest standards possible.

- M N V P Naidu
